CHICAGO – The Building Service Contractors Association International (BSCAI) announces its 2008 Annual Convention & Trade Show, April 25-28 at the Tampa Convention Center in Tampa, Fla.

The 2008 BSCAI Annual Convention & Trade Show, the premier trade show for the janitorial, contract security and building services industry, features top-notch education sessions, unique roundtable discussions, professional networking opportunities and a trade show floor highlighting top-industry vendors and the latest products and services on the market.

“After our highly successful show last year, the 2008 convention is shaping up to be another great event,” said BSCAI president, Ernest Clark, Jr., CBSE, Mister Kleen Maintenance Co. “The Annual Convention & Trade Show is a prime example of why the industry relies on BSCAI to enhance professionalism, leadership and business growth. It is where the building service community comes together to learn, meet new people and walk away with an unparalleled experience that cannot be found anywhere else in the industry.”

Bill George, professor, Harvard Business School, author, True North and Authentic Leadership, serves as the opening keynote speaker at the 2008 BSCAI Annual Convention & Trade Show, Saturday, April 26. George will discuss leadership challenges in the 21st century and will engage the audience in a question-and-answer session.

The highly-anticipated CEO Summit returns for its second year, and is led by George in 2008. This six-hour event, held Friday, April 25, attracts an elite group of building service industry CEOs for an opportunity to share leadership experiences in small and large group discussions. This event is available at an additional fee and seating is first-come, first-served.
