ABOUT THE PROGRAM

Piecing Together a World of Standards takes an unusual and refreshing approach towards standards and their impact on the cleaning industry. Understanding the many standards and their associations can be complex and confusing to industry professionals. Some bodies of standards are as comprehensive as the ISSA Cleaning Industry Management Standards (CIMS), which incorporates all of the disciplines of the cleaning industry. Other standards, such as those established by the US Green Building Council, apply to high-performance sustainable buildings. In addition to the many standards being set by associations, there are others established by the federal government. The Environmental Protection Agency works in concert with federal and state agencies to conserve natural resources through manufacturing standards, environmental partnerships, regulatory requirements, and guidelines for sustainability.

In this dynamic session, we will explore the leading standards that shape our business. Complex information, voluminous standards and federal requirements are simplified and streamlined into content you can use. The standards curriculum will meet the needs of in-house service providers, contract cleaners, distributors, salespeople, and manufacturers alike. The course format will include lecture, interactive exercises, video and electronic resources of standards documents and websites that will help you succeed.

Session Covers Standards from the Following Groups:
USGBC, U.S. EPA, Green Seal, BSCAI, ISSA, IEHA EcoLogo

ABOUT THE PRESENTER: DAVID FRANK

David Frank is president of the American Institute for Cleaning Sciences, an independent third-party accreditation organization that establishes standards to improve the professional performance of the cleaning industry. With more than 30 years of experience, Dave is a leading authority in the sanitary supply industry, serving facility service providers, distributors and manufacturers.

Dave travels the globe lecturing on the values of hygiene, image enhancement, and sanitation. He is an active member and frequent speaker for ISSA, APPA, EPA and the U.S. Green Building Council. In addition to his industry contributions, he developed InfoClean, the first easy-to-use workloading software program for defining staffing levels and meeting budget requirements.

David has served on many industry committees to develop standards for healthy building designs, environmental sustainability and quality management systems.
